

www.zaber.com.pl

A low-angle, upward-looking photograph of a white wind turbine. The three blades are visible, with blue tips. The central hub and nacelle are also white. The tower is a thick white column. The background is a clear blue sky with a few wispy white clouds. The perspective makes the tower appear to converge towards the top of the frame.